

LG7 and ECA Compliance

Whether an owner or occupier worries about LG7 compliance may not be the point.

We believe from our research that marketing a building with lights dropped below the ceiling is less preferable than a recessed option, however

Often tenants based on a “tick box” approach are looking for notional LG7 compliance.

Lumitron’s patented and ECA compliant products allow for adjustability and therefore clean ceiling lines and Tenants LG7 compliance are potentially incorporated in one luminaire.

“To provide too little flexibility may make the building less desirable to potential tenants”
